The Academy

According to Charmed lore, humans who enter into demonic contracts can be recruited into the Academy. This is the means by which the Source creates new demons.

The subject must survive a cruel physical ordeal to be admitted to the Academy. Following admittance, the subject begins a long and brutal training program which destroys humanity and renders the subject demonic. Upon completion of the program, the subject must kill an innocent in order to prove that the demonic Conversion is complete.

Chevrons are earned as training progresses. Five chevrons are earned in the course of Academic study. A sixth chevron, awarded for the death of an innocent, indicates the demonic conversion is complete. Additional chevrons represent great service to the Source and the increased powers that are bestowed in return.

Dark Alchemists

Charmed lore says that Dark Alchemists use metaphysical tools and infernal magick, to transform any substance into another. Aside from turning water into gold and energy into matter, Dark Alchemists are also known for their ability to transform the dead into the living by calling the souls back into corpses.

To vanquish one, recite the Power of Three spell:

Let flesh be flesh and bone be bone
The Dark Alchemist shall transform none
Cruel scientist of evil born
With these words, face the fire’s scorn

Andras

The Spirit of Rage

According to charmed lore, Andras uses anger as a portal to enrage his victims until they commit a grievous act of violence. Although the rage leaves the victim after the act is committed, the violence usually serves a greater purpose, making Andras a powerful foe.

The Spirit of Rage has used his abilities to incite wars that lasted for decades and redefined continents. In addition, due to the insidious nature of his work, Andras can be extremely difficult to detect. But because he has not yet ascended to full demonhood, this low-level spirit is vulnerable to the powers of greater supernatural beings.